Data Highway/Data Highway Plus Communication Interface

Use the Data Highway / Data Highway Plus Interface (5130-KA) for additional DH/DH+ and serial communication capability. The KA has the same communication channels as the RM. You can have up to four KAs in a Pyramid Integrator chassis. The KA does not provide a data table.

Logic Processor

The logic processor (5250-LP1, -LP2, -LP3, -LP4) executes control logic. Input data can come from other Pyramid Integrator modules in the local chassis and from devices connected to the RM or KA via a DH or DH+ link.

You can have up to four LPs in one Pyramid Integrator chassis. Each LP executes its own ladder-logic program.

The LP has memory for storing ladder-logic programs and data tables. The PLC-5/250 processor stores and executes compiled instruction code, which executes faster than interpreted code.
