COMPACT PCI

FAQ's

- 102.7 Mbytes/sec sustained transfer rate (Memory to memory via 32 bit 33 MHz PCI)
- Onboard programmable protocol engine minimizes host intervention
- Supports Arbitrated Loop and Point to Point Topologies
- Network capabilities via Arbitrated Loop Multiple Initiator / Multiple Target
- "Integrated Hub" simplifies system configuration and supports port bypass
- Copper and Fiber Optic configurations
- API host interface support for PowerPC, Pentium, and DSP host processors
- Bus mastering 32/64 bit PCI with DMA
- 30 m cable length with copper, 10 km possible with optical interface

A Fibre Channel link operates at 1.0625 Gbits/sec. After coding and packet overhead is accounted for, the effective theoretical maximum transfer rate is 103 Mbytes/sec. Due to hardware architecture issues, Fibre Channel interfaces typically achieve only 25% to 40% of maximum on a sustained basis. Delphi has demonstrated a sustained transfer rate of 102.7 Mbytes/sec (99.7%) over a 32 bit / 33 MHz PCI interface.
