PRODUCT INFORMATION

Interphase 4811 EISA FDDI Adapter

The 4811 EISA FDDI Adapter from Interphase Corporation enables Hewlett-Packard 9000 Series 700 EISA systems to attach to an FDDI network with mission-critical confidence. Featuring a single-slot, performance-based architecture, the 4811 delivers network throughput at near the theoretical limit of FDDI. The 4811 supports bus master DMA transfer rates up to 33 MByte/s in burst mode, utilizing a custom Interphase ASIC designed to maximize throughput. The 4811 also comes standard with 128K SRAM of local buffer to ensure data integrity during heavy bus traffic in high latency configurations.
