COOL SPOT: Redesigned UV 75 CE Marked

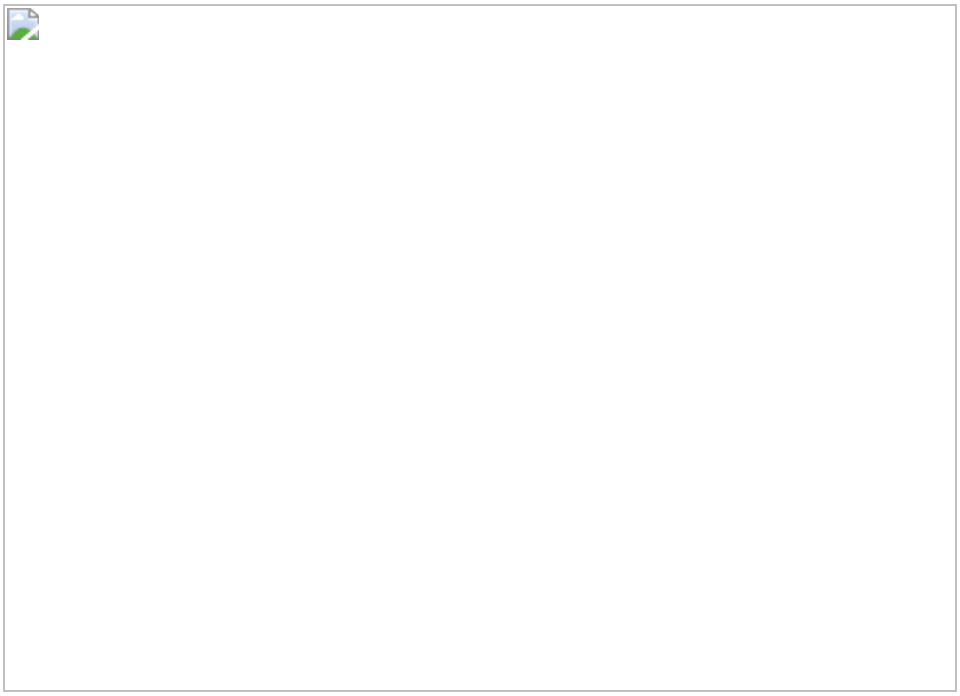

Ideal for bench top and prototyping work or for small repairs and rework, the hand held EFOS UV Light has been completely redesigned to be more powerful and functional with a smaller footprint.

Changes to the power supply and optics have produced an enhanced spectral output with additional power in the visible range for curing a wider variety of materials in less time.

Bulb life has also been increased for a lower cost of operation. The unit now comes with a "bull's eye" radiometer built right into the base station to ensure output integrity of the unit prior to curing.

EFOS produces all products to exacting quality standards and we are pleased to add CE marking to our list of agency approvals.
