Features

Tip, Tilt and Rotation

These multi-axis platforms provide tip, tilt and rotation adjustments for aligning optical components.

Model 36 has an elevation tilt adjustment and a rotation adjustment that rotates the mounting platform about the kinematic pivot point — ideal for use as a pointer.

Model 37 provides full, three-axis angular orientation freedom. When used with an XYZ stage, it provides six degrees of freedom for total positioning capability.

Model 39 provides two axes of angular adjustments, allowing a mounted component to be oriented parallel to an arbitrary plane.

Linear Stage Compatible

These tilt stages are ideally suited for mounting linear trans like the 423 and 443 to provide assemblies with full alignm
On the left, the 443 linear stage is mounted atop the Model
