NI PXI-8431/8 (RS485/RS422)

High-Performance, 8-Port Serial Interface for PXI

- Minimal CPU usage with DMA transfers
- Memory mapped to prevent I/O resource conflicts
- Certified Windows quality driver for quick installation
- Includes converter cable (SCSI-68 to 8 DB-9 male connectors)
- LabVIEW Real-Time compatible
- Customizable baud rates up to 3 Mb/s and 128 B transmit and receive FIFOs)

Overview

The National Instruments PXI-8431/8 is a high-performance, 8-port serial interface for high-speed communication with RS485/RS422 devices at rates up to 3 Mb/s. High-performance RS485/RS422 interfaces are also available in 2 and 4-port versions from NI. The NI PXI-8431/8 offers flexible baud rates for data transmissions up to 3 Mb/s to within 1 percent accuracy for nonstandard baud rates and 0.01 percent accuracy for standard baud rates. With the high-performance DMA engine, you achieve high throughput with minimal CPU usage, which is especially useful for applications with simultaneous communication on multiple serial ports. With hyperthreading and multiprocessor compatibility, you can take advantage of the latest PC technology for higher speeds and better efficiency. National Instruments also offers easy-to-use, powerful software that significantly reduces your development time for systems that use serial communication with the PXI-8431/8.

Extended Warranties

National Instruments designs and manufactures all products to minimize failures, however unexpected failures can still occur. Extended warranties provide a fixed economical price at the time of system purchase, covering any repair costs for up to three years. In addition, they offer the following benefits:

- Significant cost savings compared to individual repair incidents
- Fault location, diagnostics, and repair by NI any time the system product fails
- All parts and labor costs covered as well as any adjustments needed to restore the hardware to manufacturing specifications
